Workflow.com® announces launch of new website

Cleveland, Ohio – Workflow.com has announced the launch of its new website, marking the beginning of a new branding campaign.

According to Garrett Fortune, vice president of sales and marketing, "The look and feel of the new site better reflects our company and our customers. We have really tried to answer the questions we hear from the market."

In addition to being more informative, Workflow.com's new website reflects its recent growth in the industry. "We are on the move," said Fortune. "Our products meet a specific need and we work very hard to make our customers happy. That's what it's all about: providing value through quality products and great customer service." A focus on customer service is not a new concept for the software company, which is one of few to boast 24x7x365 customer support.

The new Workflow.com website features the opportunity to view video demonstrations of its products, allowing prospective customers to gain a better understanding of the company's solutions. It also includes product overviews, customer success stories, executive biographies, and an overview of available services. Visit www.workflow.com for more information.
